Plexiglass Trap!

It seems like every once in a while there's a big slew of illusion-based designs that come through. Remember that 2-legged table? Me either. Here's something like it though, in the two leg department. It's both the Magica (black) and the Magica2 (white), coming at you with two legs, wait! No! Four legs?! What in the world? Oh I see what you did there.

Two of the legs here have been replaced with plexiglass to create an illusion of magical proportions. Surely there can be no balance on two legs? Yes there may be.

'Vin-Eau'
Carafe and two cups
Design: Scott Henderson

The Mint Vin-Eau Carafe is a 1.5 liter porcelain carafe ideal for serving wine or water. Two bright red porcelain drinking cups store conveniently in the carafe's opening, suggesting that the VinEau is not a lonely product but one that is to be shared, a very romantic product.
